Pastor Spillman,

Thank you for the information about conducting a service “drive-in” style. We believe it comports with current Federal, State and local guidelines and is a fair compromise between safely practicing social distancing and allowing people to “gather” spiritually. Hopefully you will not mind if we share you email and our reply with others as a model to be used if a congregation wants to attempt worship services other than electronically. I would not be doing my infectious disease control officer justice if I did not assert that electronic and social media services are preferred and best at this time. Nonetheless, having a service in the way you have suggested may be psychologically, spiritually and divinely beneficial for our county.
