

PRESS RELEASE

The Blanco County Election Commission has unanimously voted to appoint Robert “Bob” Sense as Election Administrator for the County. Mr. Sense is a resident of Blanco County and has a long and distinguished career with the United States Air Force and, later, with the facilities and logistics support operations for the military. He and his wife Pam have raised a family and have 8 grandchildren. They live in the Lake of the Hills subdivision in the south end of the county. While Mr. Sense will not officially start until late July, he will be preparing for the position in a number of ways. The Election Commission has performed a long and detailed candidate search and are very optimistic that Mr. Sense will bring his professionalism, management skills and winning personality to the office of Election Administrator.
